

DO YOU WANT A PORSCHE?

From kids on to German performance and style before they get their driver's licence with the 90 Porsche-design baby stroller.

The folding mechanism allows it to fit into the luggage compartment of all Stuttgart's sports cars, except the Carrera 4.

While the stroller is not rated for high speed, pneumatic tires and Carrera S rims provide a smooth ride for junior. It also features a lockable front wheel, a hand and parking brake for safety.

A bassinet can be added for babies younger than 6 months. Driving gloves for parent and child are not included.

Check up a catalogue at a Porsche dealer or go online to shop1.porsche.com/usa.

Beef it up with a butler

Andrew Revai, pictured above, from ExotiCARE knows cars and his clients.

Revai oversees aesthetic enhancements, logistics, transport and special event photography with exotic cars, boats and helicopters as well as day-to-day maintenance and fleet management.

Revai once overhauled the Porsche of a client's wife without her knowing.

After getting some ideas of the wife's taste he did a complete colour change, added new rims and tires and overhauled the interior with a Gucci-print fabric.

See exoticare.ca

Personal concierge Jayson Gaignard knows time is money to his clients — so his job is to make life easier by taking care of all the little details.

Whether it's getting a car washed or waxed, or doing the legwork to buy a car, VIP Services is there.

Some tasks aren't as easy. "We recently had a client request us to locate a '67 Ford Mustang and get it professionally converted to an Eleanor replica from the movie Gone in 60 Seconds," said Gaignard, who ensured the client didn't lift another finger until the vehicle was delivered to his door.

See vip-services.ca

Aredevil Adventure

They are those who merely exist — when there are those for whom an adventure.

Customers of the Baja Experience live the adventure when they get behind the wheel of a Baja champion truck to drive through the desert of the Mexican peninsula, which is the legendary Baja 1000 off-road race.

The trucks are designed to provide support and stability for even the most off-roader.

For the seasoned driver, 24 inches of specially tuned suspension allow the truck to jump high and land soft, driving smoothly through the demanding terrain.

The journey includes knowledgeable guides, and trained safety and chase crews.

When not "roughing it" on the beach or mountain pass, customers stay at luxury hotels and dine on the finest authentic cuisine.

Three-day, four-day and week-long adventures are available, $3,850-$7,450 (U.S.), plus air travel. Visit thebajaexp.com.

Cushy footwear to put pedal to

Kevin Beard, founder and CEO of Piloti Driving Shoes, is certainly familiar with footwear.

Having worked for several athletic shoe companies, Beard merged his background with his passion for motorsports to create a company that specializes in footwear for the racing professional: Piloti, which is Italian for "race-car driver."

Beard wanted his shoes to have style as well as safety.

REVVED UP LAMBORGHINI

Debuting at the 2007 Consumer Electronics Show, the ASUS Lamborghini VX2 laptop has roared to life, carrying a pricetag of about $4,300.

The stylish 120-gig computer, available in black or Lambo yellow,

Historical easy. The natural Pro fire ny a fine race Pri ww

low, cess the wan Av www